FIRE MARSHAL BLAMES BIRD FOR HOME FIRE

Only quick action by the Brush-town and McSherrystown firemen Friday night prevented destruction of a house by a fire that may have been started by a bird.

The firemen were summoned at 11:30 to the home of Mrs. Ruth Krichen in Brushtown where fire was flaming from a corner of the structure. Firemen put out the blaze quickly, preventing its spread to the remainder of the unoccupied structure.

Putting out the fire was easier than solving the riddle of how it began.

HOUSE UNOCCUPIED

No one resides in the house. Mrs. Krichen, who is ill, had been living with a relative, now is in a hospital. The house was locked and there was no evidence that anyone had made any attempt to enter it.

The fire itself started atop the foundation wall between the weather boarding and the plastering and spread out to the corner.

There was no way anyone could introduce the fire to the spot where it occurred, firemen said. The spot was under an enclosed porch, which was locked and there was no evidence anyone had been on the porch. The porch is about four feet from the ground and a lattice-work fills the area from the bottom of the porch to the ground. Flowers and plants have grown up and intertwined in the lattice.

2ND COINCIDENCE

County Fire Marshal John Murren said birds have been known to pick up glowing cigarettes and carry them to their nests when young are feeding.

Public Schools Are Closed For Summer

WOODEN SPAN REPAIR WILL COST $10,000

The ancient Kuhn's Fording covered wooden bridge near East Berlin - longest in the county - can be repaired for from $8,000 to $10,000.

That was the opinion expressed Friday by J. E. Wells to the Adams County commissioners at a meeting in the courthouse. The engineer said the ends of the span have dropped and the structure is in poor condition.

Wells told the commissioners he would not recommend that an attempt be made to raise the bridge. He suggested that the corners be repaired and the entrances lowered to the present bridge floor. The commissioners told Wells to prepare specifications.

Fred G. Klunk, chairman of the Adams County Democratic Committee, asked that traveling registrars sit at the Adams County and South Mountain Fairs and the Kingsdale firemen's festival to register voters prior to the presidential election.

Armed Forces On Cyprus Are Alert After Report Of Invasion By Turkey

By THOMAS A. REEDY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Reports that a Turkish invasion of Cyprus was imminent have put Greek and Cypriot armed forces on an emergency alert, but an immediate showdown was reportedly avoided by the intervention of President Johnson.

"The Cyprus crisis has been pushed into a grave phase by the Greek Cypriot administrators," a Turkish Cabinet spokesman said.

A ranking Turkish informant said, however, that Turkey had given up the idea of landing on Cyprus "for the time being."

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, flew to Ankara unexpectedly Friday. He met with Gen. Cevdet Sunay, Turkey's chief of staff, and with Premier Ismet Inonu.

INVITED TO U. S.

The Turkish source said U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare gave Inonu a note from President Johnson inviting Inonu to the United States, and explaining that the President was unable to leave the country.

Johnson and Lemnitzer examined the possibilities of a Turkish landing on the island, the Turkish source said.

In Washington, the White House refused comment on any Johnson intervention in an invasion but said he did suggest to Inonu "the possibility of visiting Washington if convenient, but this matter is still under discussion."

Nicosia was filled with rumors that Turkey had six ships cruising off the north coast of Cyprus.

SEMINARY'S FUTURE WILL BE DISCUSSED

There is "no present plan" to close the historic 138-year-old Lutheran seminary here, the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church in America and a resident of Gettysburg, said Friday.

Dr. Putman conceded that "the future" of the Gettysburg seminary will be discussed next week when the synod's third annual convention opens at Gettysburg. And, he said, it will be reviewed early next month when the Lutheran Church in America holds its national convention in Pittsburgh.

STUDY CONSOLIDATION

Dr. Putman explained, however, that the discussions will relate only to "closer consolidation" of Gettysburg's theological studies with those of Mount Airy Seminary, the church's seminary in Philadelphia.

Adding weight to the reports that the church has been considering losing Gettysburg seminary in a step toward operating only a single major seminary in the East was the election last month of Dr. Donald R. Heiges, Gettysburg seminary president, to the presidency of the seminary in Philadelphia.

Dr. Putman said Dr. Heiges, while being president of Mount Airy Seminary, remains president of Gettysburg seminary as part of the "consolidation program."

He said a committee of the Lutheran Church in America has been making a study of the theological studies program of both seminaries, and will present a report at the synod convention Monday through Wednesday at Gettysburg College.

COUNTY PLANS MEET TO SOLVE TAX PROBLEMS

The pesky problem of how to keep the occupation assessments up to date will be threshed out in the near future at a joint meeting of school boards, assessors and borough and township officials with the county commissioners.

After nearly two hours of discussion Friday afternoon on the problems of occupation assessments both as to persons and occupations the commissioners decided to call a joint meeting of those concerned.

The problem has been brought to a head by township school boards who asked for a "supplementary list of the duplicates sent by the county to the tax collectors and school boards and others listing the taxables as of December 31."

QUESTION LISTS
The school boards claim there are names missing from those lists, particularly of nonproperty owners. They also doubt the occupations of some of those listed.

School boards have found the occupation tax a boon to income and generally desirous of getting every person they can on the list and at the highest occupation. The commissioners, while interested in the occupation assessment required by law for the school boards, do not levy an occupation tax.

Discussion by attorneys for the school boards with the commissioners indicated that by law the county is obliged to provide the school boards with supplemental lists whenever needed. The commissioners hope to settle on a once a year supplement to the duplicate.

ILLUSTRATE PROBLEM

KOREA HONORS SOLDIER DEAD

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Soldiers in battle dress patrolled the streets against renewed student demonstrations today as South Korea paused to honor its war dead.

Four days of violent protests by students calling for the government to take strong measures against the nation's inflationary trend threatened the government of President Chung Hee Park.

They forced the resignation of the nation's second-ranking official, Kim Chong-Pil.

The president, in a brief address at the 40-minute memorial service made only one indirect reference to the antigovernment demonstrations which forced him to order out troops and clamp martial law over this capital of three million persons Wednesday night.

"In these troubled and confused times we must all rekindle the staunchly anti-Communist ideology so that our anti-Communist posture may be further solidified and our marches to town reunifying the country by defeating communism may be strengthened anew," the president told an estimated 3,000 persons, most of them relatives of the dead.

DEFER MOVE TO END DEBATE ON CIVIL RIGHTS

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders restrained from filing a petition to end the 72-day civil rights debate pending the outcome today of a proposal to vote on three important amendments early next week.

The agreement was advanced late Friday by Republicans. But action was deferred overnight at the urging of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern forces.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said if the agreement is accepted it may shorten the marathon debate.

But should the agreement—which requires unanimous consent—be rejected, he added, a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule will be filed as previously planned.

COULD VOTE TUESDAY

If there is no agreement and the cloture petition is filed today it would automatically come to a vote one hour after the Senate convenes Tuesday. Adoption of cloture would require a two-thirds majority, or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote. Indications are that the vote would be extremely close.

The move to get a vote on three amendments to the bill before a cloture showdown was initiated by a group of Republicans led by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate's GOP Policy Committee.

In the long battle over the civil rights bill, Hickenlooper has not set eye to eye with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican floor leader who is the chief architect of a proposed substitute for the House-passed bill.

VOTE ON AMENDMENT

The substitute, aimed at winning more support for the bill, has the support of Mansfield and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. But it does not go as far in modifying the measure as some Republicans would like.

Under Hickenlooper's request—which any one senator could block—the Senate would vote Tuesday morning on an amendment to provide for jury trials in criminal contempt cases involving civil rights other than those involving injunctions against discriminatory denial of voting rights.

Also up for a vote later Tuesday would be amendments to the section of the bill prohibiting discrimination in employment and to a section designed to speed up school desegregation.

Hickenlooper said he was speaking for about 20 of the 33 Republican senators in proposing that three amendments be acted on before any attempt to cut off the debate.

Some of the senators in this group, including Hickenlooper, have refused to commit themselves publicly to vote for cloture under which each senator's speaking time on the bill and all amendments would be limited to one hour. Senate leaders need all the Republican votes they can get in order to choke off the debate and clear the way for balloting on the bill itself.

tional Guardsmen had been called into action to defend all coastal areas.

Troops were concentrated on the northern coast, especially in the Mansoura area west of Morphe Bay. That section is where the Greeks claim Turkish Cypriots have been importing arms from Istanbul.

Turkish Cypriots showed no unusual activity, despite reports that any Turkish invasion would be combined with an attack by Turkish Cypriots on strategic points northward from the capital to the coast.

WOODEN SPAN

will become vacant this year. Listed were the five present members whose terms expire this year: Mrs. Brenda Walker, Littlestown; Mrs. Robert Collier, Gettysburg; Mrs. George F. Eberhart, Gettysburg; Arthur Gordon, Gettysburg R. D.; and Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, Gettysburg. Additional nominees were: Mrs. Harry Manning, East Berlin; Mrs. Paul Crist, Fairfield; Mrs. Daniel Paddock, Gettysburg R. D.; Dr. James Sheen, Gettysburg; and Mrs. Ivan Taylor, York Springs.

The commissioners said three of the present members have asked to be relieved of their duty.

The commissioners and Treasurer Daniel J. Wolff sat as the salary board and set $150 per hour for draftsmen and microfilm operators. Two draftsmen are to be engaged to draw maps for the county's reassessment. One microfilming operator will also be hired.

Bills totaling $19,293 were approved for payment.

COUNTY PLANS

made this year for one person. She has resided in three different districts during the year and also was married.

Discussion indicated that the commissioners feel the school boards and tax collectors may be of some help in keeping the occupation assessments straight.

School boards in some instances notify the assessors prior to the return by the assessor of individuals who to their knowledge have moved in and out of their districts or changed occupations. Some wait until they receive the duplicate, check it against their list and then send a great number of names to the county office. The commissioners say that where the school boards and assessors get together before the assessors turn in their lists there is less difficulty later on.

Tax collectors who find that people no longer live at the place where they are assessed can also help keep the records straight. Some notify the assessment office, many do not.

As a result it is hoped the joint meeting will solve some of the problems.

There is also a good possibility, say the commissioners, that at least the occupation part of the occupation assessments might be solved soon by setting up a wage tax.

FIRE MARSHAL

He said the only conclusion that could be reached is that there had been a bird nest there and a bird apparently flew through the lattice bearing a lighted cigarette. The glowing cigarette lay in the nest for a time, set fire to it and eventually burst in flame and the house caught fire.

A second coincidence helped bring firemen quickly. A resident of the area took several friends to their home and in doing so passed the Krichen house. Going past it to deliver the friends he saw no fire because it was screened by bushes. Coming back after delivering the friends to their home, he passed the one spot where the side of the house could be seen through the bushes and noted the fire starting up the side of the house.

Damage was estimated at "possibly several hundred dollars." Only one room was damaged by smoke, a second story room which filled with smoke, but none of the downstairs rooms nor any of the other upstairs rooms suffered damage.

YOUNG SOLDIER VISITS GRAVES OF TWO UNCLES

ST. LAURENT, France (AP)

A young soldier from the Hazleton, Pa., area has made a D-Day university pilgrimage to the American military cemetery here, visiting the burial place of two uncles who fell in World War II.

Leon Durchein, now 23 and a member of the 709th Military Police Battalion in Giessen, Germany, was only three years old when his kinsmen were killed. He was too young of course, to have preserved any clear memory of them. But they have been made very real to him, through accounts of the war, what his family told him, and now his nearness to so many of the old battle sites.

One of the uncles, PFC Joseph Surek, then 22, was killed in the St. Lo breakthrough from the Normandy beaches where Allied armies stormed Hitler's Europe 20 years ago. An infantryman, Joseph was one of four men killed by a German firing a sub-machine gun from the tower of a village church on July 13, 1944.

BROTHER AT ANZIO
His brother, Frank, a 26-year-old private, was brought down by a sniper at Anzio, the bloody beachhead in Italy.

After the war the Army, in what the family was told was an unusual dispensation, buried the brothers side by side in the cemetery here.

Two other Surek brothers in service during World War II, Michael, a sergeant in the Air Force, was stationed in Panama. Anthony, a seaman first class, was with the Seabees in the Pacific. A fifth brother, Leo, was turned down for service because the government said four from one family was enough.

The Surek family comes from a village called Kelayres, about four miles south of Hazleton, in the heart of the hard coal country. Some members of it have moved away, but several others including Durchein's mother, remain.

LOSES APPEAL, MISS SMITH IS GOES TO PRISON

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Frank (Blinky) Palermo began Friday a 15-year prison sentence, on a conviction of conspiracy and extortion.

"We lost our appeal," Palermo said, in an emotion-filled voice, "and now we're going away."

Palermo and three others, including Frankie Carbo, alleged underworld boxing boss, were convicted May 30, 1961, in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, of trying to muscle in on the earnings of former welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Palermo's appeals to the U.S. Circuit Court and the U.S. Supreme Court were rejected.

Friday, two U. S. marshals picked him up and took him to the federal building here. He will be held in Holmesburg Prison, until the U. S. Justice Department assigns him to a federal prison.

Palermo had been fined $10,000 along with the jail term, but his attorney, Jacob Kossman, said, "he's broke."

Palermo turned out the pockets of his gray summer suit for the marshals, producing $20. He told a newsman he had never served time in jail before.

Gen. J. M. Weikert

no one is fully educated until he has absorbed at least some of the great tradition of culture which has molded western civilization and has learned to respect this tradition; that there is still much to be learned about man and his social and physical environment and that the atmosphere of a college such as this should be one of freedom of inquiry and speculation about those wide and changing areas of knowledge upon which divine revelation has not enlightened us, and that every man and every society must, in thoughts and actions, do homage to Him Who is the Lord of truth and the Ruler of the world."

In a lighter vein General Weikert entertained fellow alumni with numerous references to growing older.

GROWING OLD

He told his hearers, many of whom are his contemporaries, that he was reminded of several incidents that illustrate "uncritical" things to say about aging. One of these was a remark attributed to Maurice Chevalier as he marked his 70th birthday and was asked how he felt to be that old. His reply was: "It is better than the alternative."

In speaking of "the great amount of knowledge we forget," he recalled a story about a bank president and the vice president who were discussing bank business one day when two pretty girls walked past the open door.

COULD REMEMBER

"The president asked, 'John, do you remember when we ran around with girls?' and John said, 'Yes.' Then there was a long silence and John finally said, 'But I can't remember why.'"

General Weikert opened his address with a story about the late Governor Alfred E. Smith when he made a speech at Sing Sing Prison.

"He started out in the customary fashion of addressing his audience as 'fellow citizens.' There was some discomfort in the audience which he perceived immediately and then said 'fellow convicts.' Of course, that was not too well received and finally he ended up by saying, 'I am glad to see so many of you here.'"

Local Women Open Business:

May 28 — Gettysburg's newest store, "The Silver Thimble," specializing in hand-made articles and operated on a system similar to the Women's Exchange of by-gone years, will open, tentatively, Saturday morning at 35 York St., co-owners Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hennig and Mrs. Verna H. Myers announced today.

Because of the Memorial Day weekend, the proprietors have moved their opening ahead several days earlier than originally planned. Depending upon the arrival of stock, the official opening day is set for June 1. Thereafter store hours will be 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily except Sunday.

The gift shop is located at a site which one time served as a salesroom for Hennig's Bakery. It is now the ground floor portion of the residence of Mrs. Hennig.

The shop will stock knitting, crocheting, sewing, hand paintings, ceramics, earrings and handbraided and hooked rugs.

Engagement: Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Schwartz, Littlestown R. 1, announced the engagement of their daughter, Nadine Shirley, to Carl Dean Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown, Taneytown, Md., at a surprise birthday party Saturday evening at their home.

Miss Schwartz is a member of the graduating class of Gettysburg High School. Her fiancé, who was graduated from the Taneytown High School in 1953, is employed at Wagner's Service Station, Taneytown.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Philip Bickle Stricken With Heart Attack: The condition of Philip R. Bickle, 149 W. Lincoln Ave., stricken Friday by a heart attack, was reported at the Warner Hospital this morning as "serious."

The 69-year-old insurance broker and former editor of The Gettysburg Times suffered the attack in his office on Baltimore St. about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Dr. C. G. Crist was summoned and Mr. Bickle was removed to the Warner hospital in the ambulance. He was born June 10, 1885.

Physicians said that while his condition is serious he is "as good as can be expected" following the attack.

Mr. Bickle became editor of The Gettysburg Times in 1905 when the paper changed its name from "The Progress" and served until about 1914 when he entered other business. He has maintained an insurance office here for many years. He has been prominent in activities of the Sigma Chi fraternity, Carlisle St. for many years, serving as a trustee and during World War II was authorized by the national Sigma Chi officials to take over operation of the local fraternity if all undergraduate members were called into service.

Friendly Fawn Is Found In Orchard: Paul Wetzel, manager of the Mt. Carmel Farm of the C. H. Musselman Co., must have an endearing way with deer. Wednesday, as he was working in the orchard, a fawn came to him. He petted the animal, carried it down to the farm house, "introduced" the animal to those about, took a picture of the tiny deer and then went back to the orchard. The fawn wandered along with Wetzel, following like a dog. After a time in the orchard, the fawn concluded the "visit" and went

Today's Talk

THE ART OF TRAVELING

I used to happily envy the late "Bob" Davis, who was a world traveler. He went everywhere, it seemed. The whole world to him was a local story, and with what magic words he transferred his joy to his readers and friends. He knew the art of traveling, for he was a master at it.

Too many moderns among us look upon a journey as something with a destination, whereas every mile of any journey should be a part of the destination itself. Otherwise journeys would be sheer wastes. When one takes one's summer vacation, it should begin the moment one leaves the front door of one's home. All vacations should begin this way.

Every journey should be like reading a book. Each hour may be made into a page, each day a chapter. And every mile may depict an illustration of some sort. To be a happy traveler, the eye should be ever on the alert and the mind receptive. There are meanings everywhere. The art is to delve into their secret chambers and bring them to the light.

A stranger who met W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, at a small inn in New England one morning, remarked to him: "Oh, I see that you are a traveler in little things!" Well, he was just that, but he saw the great significance in little things, and all his life revealed the beauty, the wonder, and the usefulness of noticing things that most people pass by as of no import.

It is amazing how much we look at in which we see so little. We can, however, cultivate a seeing eye, thus adding greatly to every journey that we take. Travel with a camera and you will see infinitely more than you otherwise would, for you become observant, ever on the lookout for the unusual and artistic.

Fine as are the ever-changing sights to see, on a traveling trip, yet among the richest experiences are those that come as a result of the many human contacts made. New faces, new life stories, fresh viewpoints, and an ever-widening intellectual horizon are thus provided. Every advantage should be taken of every opportunity to learn. Traveling should relax the whole body, rest and stimulate the mind, and make one thankful of life!

Just Folks

WITH CLEARER SIGHT

Some day we may with clearer sight
See what is wrong and what is right

And, gaining wisdom, come to know
The line dividing joy and woe,
And with a truer sense decide
What's boastfulness and what is pride.

Some faults perhaps may virtues prove,
Some virtues be a narrow groove
Wherein we've trudged for ages long
Thinking the broader highways wrong.

And it may be that we shall find
More patience with our fellow kind.

But even now with what we've learned,
It seems man should be more concerned
With being tender, thoughtful, fair,
Than gathering gold beyond his share.

And scattering in his little sphere
A little more of help and cheer.

We seem to wander through a fog,
Scarce knowing high ground from the bog,
And, blind to beauty and to bloom,
Believe our souls need greater room.

When round about us everywhere
Lie countless splendors we could share.

Rain, Wind Hit Parts Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and wind buffeted parts of the South today while showers and thundershowers dampened other widely scattered areas of the nation.

But there was fair weather, too—in the Middle and North Atlantic states and from the Southern Plains to Southern California.

A dozen or more thunder-showers across northern Alabama and northwestern Georgia brought heavy rain and some high wind. Tuscaloosa, Ala., reported gusts up to 58 miles an hour. There were no injuries reported.

Earlier, Orlando, Fla., got more than two inches of rain and more than inch and a half fell at Key West, Fla.

Fairfield Little League

The Braves bounced into a three-way tie for first place by scoring three runs in the bottom of the second inning and defeating the last place Giants 9-5 Friday evening.

The Giants made a desperate attempt to pull the contest out of the fire in the last inning. With the bases loaded, Mike Donaldson uncorked a tremendous blow which looked as if it might clear the fence for a home run but a picture catch by outfielder John Mohler halted the ball's flight and the Giants' rally.

Bob Kessler and Tom Sanders paced the winners' attack with a trio of hits including identical pokes of a single, double and triple. Donaldson was the big man for the Giants as he lashed out three doubles for four at bats.

Tim Valentine went the distance on the hill, striking out 10, walking three and gaining the decision. Bob Harbaugh went all the way for the Giants and is charged with the loss.

BEATS FAVORITE
If he had thrown as many earlier in the fight as he did in the last two rounds, he would have romped off with a decision over the 2-1 favorite.

Bizzarro, the No. 2 contender in the 130 - pound junior-lightweight division, elected to fight at long range and he had the squat little Puerto Rican batter chasing him for most of the 10 rounds.

Referee Pete Della, by 5-3-2 and Judge Leo Birnbaum, by 5-4-1, voted for Narvaez. Judge Johnny Dran had it a draw, giving each five rounds and five points. The AP card had it even, 5-5.

Narvaez' record now is 20-1-1. Bizzarro's is 46-8-2. Narvaez outweighed his foe, 135 to 133½ pounds. A crowd of about 2,000 saw the televised bout.

Dickinson Names Board President

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Samuel W. Witwer Jr., Chicago attorney who ran for the U. S. Senate in Illinois as a Republican in 1960, is the new president of the Board of Trustees at Dickinson College.

Witwer was elected Friday to succeed Sidney D. Kline, president of the Berks County Trust Co. in Reading.

Dr. Carl C. Chambers, vice president in charge of engineering affairs at the University of Pennsylvania, was elected vice president, succeeding Frank E. Masland Jr. of Carlisle. J. William Stuart of New York was made a new member of the board.

William P. Young, secretary of labor and industry, attributed the decreases to recalls in the construction, service and apparel industries and fewer layoffs in bituminous mining, food processing, printing and trade.

Jobs Claims Set 8-Year Low Record

HARRISBURG (AP) —The State Labor and Industry Department says continued and initial claims for unemployment compensation fell last week to their lowest levels since October 1956.

Continued claims totaled 117,675, compared to 123,138 for the previous week. New claims dropped 681 to 17,853, the department reported Friday in its weekly survey.

Agent Advises Spruce-up Of Tourist Facilities To Bolster County's Economy

THOMAS E. PIPER

Adams County Farm Agent

Adams County will enjoy a captive tourist trade for many months to come as people travel through all parts of the state on their way to and from the New York World's Fair. An active tourist trade helps the county's economy.

It is the prudent business man who prepares for this influx of potential prosperity. Business depending on tourist trade may lose money by not making their facilities more attractive.

Motorists passing gasoline stations, restaurants and motels for the first time often pass up those that are unsightly and poorly landscaped with inadequate parking areas.

Restaurants often plant shrubs around the foundation of their building but neglect entirely the borders of their property. Un-sightly adjoining property can be screened by a fence, hedge or a row of tall evergreens if space is available. There may even be room for flowering trees to give an attractive display of color. Garbage and trash cans can be screened by plant material or a fence.

SEEK SHADY STOPS

During hot weather, motorists like to stop at businesses offering shade. Don't sell short the importance of having a few trees for shade or to provide a background for the main building.

Sick or insect-riddled plants are not good advertisements. Many firms forget to properly maintain their plantings — even after investing considerable sums in them. This detail may be taken care of by hiring a firm or service that does landscape maintenance.

Money spent in making the site of a business attractive is a good investment.

SLAUGHTERS INCREASE

The year 1963 was one in which beef and hog slaughter across the nation increased substantially. Pennsylvania's share of the national production was 3.3 per cent of the cattle and 3.9 per cent of the hogs processed.

Beef production in the United States reached 16,423 million pounds in 1963 — up seven per cent from 1962. Pork production was up five per cent and totaled 12,439 million pounds.

Pennsylvania meat packers slaughter 2,500 head of beef cattle over the previous year for a total of 900,500 head. This marks the second largest slaughter since 1957 and this state retains its position as the 12th largest beef slaughterer in the nation.

CALF SLAUGHTER SECOND

In addition, the Commonwealth's calf slaughter amounted to 667,000 head, accounting for 10 per cent of the nation's total. Pennsylvania placed second among calf slaughtering states although processing less calves than in 1962.

Overall, calf slaughter in the United States has declined substantially in recent years. There are two reasons for the decrease: There are fewer dairy cows in the nation's herds and more calves are being fed out to maturity.

Hog slaughter in Pennsylvania increased by 11 per cent in 1963 although the national increase amounted to only four per cent. During the year, 3,200,000 hogs were processed in Commonwealth plants for the largest slaughter since 1944.

Pennsylvania provided only 1.6 per cent of the nation's sheep and lamb meat in 1963. Only 248,000 head were slaughtered this year — the least since 1952.

This summer farmers and homeowners will again fight the bugs. This means pesticides will be used. Here's a word or two of caution.

Mix pesticides outdoors because their fumes may be dangerous. Keep children away from areas where pesticides are being mixed or used.

Don't smoke while mixing or applying pesticides. Pesticides on your hands can be carried to your mouth by cigarettes. Also, some pesticides are flammable.

Wash your hands after mixing or spraying. If clothes are contaminated, change quickly. Wash such clothes thoroughly before wearing again. Don't spray on windy days. Pesticides can drift to other areas. If there is danger of inhaling dust or fine spray, wear a mask. And last but not least, always follow directions on labels.

LAWYERS DISBARRED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Attorneys Stanley J. Dolnick and Paul N. Gardner were disbarred Friday from practice in the federal courts here. No reason was announced. Last February they had been disbarred in Philadelphia Common Pleas Court.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Helena Rubinstein has donated $100,000 to improve the Tel Aviv museum of modern art which bears her name. Mayor Mordechai Namir announced Friday.

John O. Pepper, extension entomologist from Pennsylvania State University, who served Adams County for the last 31 years, is shown Thursday night as he received a check from the Adams County Fruitgrowers' Association in appreciation of his service over the years. He retired July 1. Shown at left, presenting the check is Harold Garretson, Aspers R. 1, president of the Adams County Fruitgrowers. Dr. Pepper is at right. (Times photo)

People In The News

HONG KONG (AP) — Judy Garland has fully recovered from pleurisy, Dr. Lee Siegel, her personal physician, said Friday.

The 41-year-old singer collapsed last week. Dr. Siegel, who flew from Hollywood to Hong Kong to treat her, said pleurisy developed as "an aftermath of a coma of unknown origin."

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP) — Bill (Moose) Skowron, Washington Senators' first baseman, has won a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Skowron testified in Superior Court that his wife, Virginia, 30, repeatedly told him she did not love him and threatened to kill him.

MOSCOW (AP) — Kisses, flowers and 40 minutes of encores closed Marlene Dietrich's first Russian tour.

Hundreds stood outside the packed auditorium in Moscow for the final concert of the two-week tour by the German-born singer.

NEW YORK (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol of Israel received a warm official welcome to New York City Thursday. The 68-year-old leader appeared deeply moved by the ceremony, which drew a cheering crowd of 500 to the City Hall Plaza.

ARREST 31 IN GAMBLING RAID

Thirty-one persons have been arrested on gambling law charges in Pennsylvania as part of a nationwide crackdown on alleged gambling.

Arrests were reported Friday from New England to Las Vegas. Twenty-seven were picked up in the Pittsburgh area and four in Philadelphia.

Most of those arrested in the Pittsburgh district were bartenders. The 27 were accused of accepting bets without having $50 federal gambling tax stamps. The Philadelphia arrests were made on the same charge.

More than 100 police and Internal Revenue Service agents made the Pittsburgh district raids in McCandless Twp., Bethel Park, West View and the Oakland and North Side sections of Pittsburgh. The 27 were given hearings and freed on bond.

An IRS spokesman said a few betting slips were confiscated in the Pittsburgh area.

CARL REINER EMERGES AS A GOOD WRITER

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'm a hack doing hack work. But to other hacks, I'm a good writer."

That is Carl Reiner's analysis of his talents. Majority opinion in Hollywood does not concur. Reiner, onetime second banana to Sid Caesar, has emerged in recent years as the most versatile and successful writer in town.

His status was confirmed at the Television Academy awards, when "The Dick Van Dyke Show," Reiner's creation, took top honors with five Emmies. His first screenplay, "The Thrill of It All," was a top money-maker of 1963.

WROTE A NOVEL

Reiner also wrote a novel, "Enter Laughing," which was converted into a Broadway hit. Add to this his television and record dates with the "2,000-Year-Old Man" — Mel Brooks — plus hosting the weekly "Celebrity Quiz" on CBS.

"Look, I've got a way with comedy," he says. "I've got the kind of a mind that if you drop a situation into it, I can come up with a scene that will play and get laughs."

He was especially happy with Dick's selection over four dramatic actors as best series actor. "I'm glad people finally realize the worth of a comedian-actor," he said. "It doesn't happen often; Chaplin never won an Oscar, nor has Cary Grant. Yet what they do is just as difficult as dramatic acting, or more so."

Reiner, a normally buoyant man, has only one concern for the Van Dyke Show at the moment:

"We're on top. And no matter who you are, that's when they start to carp and snipe at you. I've told the whole gang to get ready for it. Next year they'll be aiming for us."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A Las Vegas housewife told police a thief raided her icebox and got away with $1,600 in cold cash.

Mrs. Stella Horton said Friday a neighbor had suggested putting money in an envelope in her refrigerator.

The theory: It would be safe from fire there and, besides, thieves never look in refrigerators for money.

The catch: They get hungry, though.

Dog Is Behind Wheel But Farmer Does The Driving

COLLAN, Ireland (AP) — An Irish farmer who let his dog sit behind the wheel of his car after he had lost his driving license was haled into court today as a road menace.

Peter Duff of Mountfortescue, Collan, County Louth, was arrested by traffic officer Pat Devlin, who told the court:

"I was motorcycling toward Collan when I saw a car with a trailer, traveling very slowly ahead of me. I could not see anyone behind the steering wheel of the car. When I came level with it I saw that the defendant (Duff) was in the front passenger seat, and steering the car from this position. Sitting in the driver's seat was a sheep dog."

WASN'T JOKING

"Duff told me," officer Pat continued, "that he was not driving at all—that the dog was driving. I thought Duff was joking but he kept insisting that the dog was driving."

The court heard other charges against Duff—no driving license, no insurance, driving a defective vehicle, driving dangerously and driving while under the influence of drink.

District Judge Henry McCourt called Duff's physician, Dr. William Irwin, as a witness. The doctor testified that Duff also told him his dog was a driver who "not only steered but operated the pedals with its paws." Duff was indignant that anybody questioned his story and insisted that the father of his present dog also had been a motorist.

CHARGES UNFAIRNESS

Duff told the court he felt his driving license had been revoked unfairly and that he'd taken a vow never to drive "as long as water runs, the grass grows and the holly is green." So he put his dog in the driver's seat.

Judge McCourt dismissed the drunk-driving charge and suspended judgment for six months on the other charges to give Duff "an opportunity of consulting with doctors."

NO MOVEMENT TO STOP BARRY IN SIGHT YET

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two potential challengers of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination—Richard M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania—have announced they will have no part of any stop-Goldwater drive.

Some Republican leaders who oppose Goldwater's candidacy have hoped that one or the other would leap into the GOP race, become the rallying point for a coalition and take the play from the Arizona conservative at the national convention.

But as Goldwater rested away from the political storm and strife and his bandwagon appeared to be taking on more steam, Nixon, the party's standard bearer in 1960, said on Long Island Thursday night he would not take part in any stop-Goldwater movement.

WOULD SPLIT PARTY

The former vice president said such a move "would so badly split the party that whoever got the nomination would find it wasn't worth anything at all."

In Harrisburg, Pa., Scranton said he would not be "part and parcel" of any movement to stop Goldwater and that after winning the California primary the senator appears to be the likely nominee.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller talked of the platform the Republicans will adopt at their convention next month and peppered the Johnson administration, charging "failure at home and abroad."

ON FIRST BALLOT

In Cleveland, Gov. Paul Fannin of Arizona, an early arrival for the governors' conference which opens Saturday, predicted flatly that Goldwater will be nominated on the first ballot.

According to the latest Associated Press survey of delegates to the San Francisco convention, Goldwater can now count on a first-ballot total of 446—just 209 short of the 655 required for nomination.

Rockefeller, who lost the winner-take-all race with Goldwater for California's 86 votes, did not mention him in his address to a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Suffolk County's Huntington Station on Long Island.

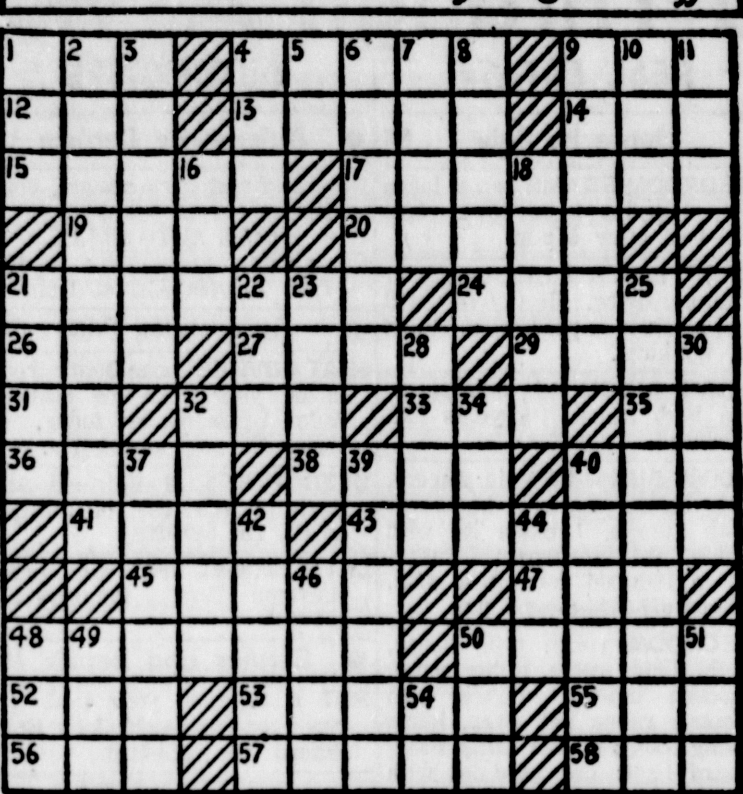

The main point of his speech: The only hope for a Republican victory in November is for the party to "develop and stand firmly upon a platform which spells out with clarity the direction in which we as a nation must move."

say to themselves that all Negroes aren't like that. They can't. And first thing you know, one of them is going to be calling some Negro, 'Hey, Amos.'

"Second, I'm a little disturbed about what it can do to young Negroes who are growing up, who are searching for racial pride, I'm afraid it will make them hate white people even more."

But, he conceded, there hasn't been an uproar in the Negro community. Most Negroes are just going to watch it and enjoy it.

DEFENDS CLASSIC SHOW

John Weigel, president of WCIU-TV, defended the show on his station as "an all-time classic."

"I think it in no way degrades or stereotypes the Negro. The people in the show live on a high level. They don't live in poverty."

Edwin Berry, director of the Chicago Urban League, said, "Weigel represents the shallow kind of understanding that unsophisticated people have of race relations."

There were no demonstrators at the station when the evening show went on the air. The reruns of the television show started in 1951 will be shown twice a week.

MRS. LUTHER WETZEL

ORRTANNA — The monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Mt. Carmel EUB Church was held Monday evening in the church hall with nine members present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Robert Shindeldecker, after which officers' reports were given and approved.

Mrs. Paul Wetzel presented a book composed of pictures of missionaries and their activities. She reported this composition by the children with her leadership and that of Mrs. Clyde Metz.

Mrs. Dale Wetzel reported the project considered by her committee is indefinite at present. Members attending the missionary convention held recently at First EUB in York reported on its proceedings.

Bible School, beginning June 22, at the church was announced by the pastor, Rev. Gotwalt. The next study class will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Shindeldecker on June 13 at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Claire Rebert as leader.

The worship program was in charge of the president with the chapter studied, "Let's Face the Challenge of Change." Scripture was read by Mrs. J. E. Spence. A number of members participated. Mrs. Clyde Metz was pianist for group singing.

The program leader for the July meeting will be Mrs. Robert. Rev. Gotwalt offered the closing prayer after which a social hour and executive meeting was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady Hill, Chambersburg, spent Monday evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pepple.

Where's Patriotism Going . . . Or Has It Gone? Project 20 Year And A Half In Production

"A flag is 114 pieces of cloth stitched together," but do the modern Betsy Rosses weary of their work? "No," says Don Hyatt, producer of the year-in-the-making "Red, White and Blue" colorcast on patriotism. "You'll find more reverence for the flag as a symbol in the flag factory than you will in a Fifth Avenue Veteran's Day parade." Colorcast is set for 9 p.m., June 9 on NBC.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"If you shopped for your TV programs in a bookstore, you'd find ours in the nonfiction department," is the way Don Hyatt characterizes his always-exciting Project 20 productions. (You'd find them, also on the best seller lists!)

But as it is, you can find his latest, "The Red, White and Blues," on your NBC station June 9, 9 to 10 p.m., with grass-roots-voiced Walter Brennan as story teller. "Because," says Hyatt, "we cast as carefully as you would for a drama. Not only does Walter look and sound right, he really believes what he's saying."

FULL-TIME JOB

And what he'll be saying, has been a full-time job for a lot of talented people for a year . . . and an extra task for some others even half a year longer than that. . . . "It took us that long to figure out how we could find out about, and present, an illustrated essay on the state of American patriotism today.

"Well, we just started on the premise that there certainly isn't as much flag waving as in the innocent years. We also asked ourselves what's happened to national holidays. Are they just another day off?

"And believe me, this is the toughest we've tackled yet — much tougher, yes, than our 'The War in Korea,' because where do you look?"

COVERED 25,000 MILES

Hyatt who oversees several productions a year as executive producer, worked on this one personally as producer-director.

"We wrote to officials in all 50 states, and then travelled around better than 25,000 miles.

"Now the last thing, we're doing is either to point a finger, or to say we've got suggestions. But we found some interesting contrasts.

"It has nothing to do, by the way, with geography," says Hyatt who was born in New Britain, Conn. He tells of driving down a prosperous street in an unnamed town in his home state last Fourth of July. "Not one single flag."

NO CELEBRATION

Yet only last week one of the most moving observances anywhere took place, as it does every year on Memorial Day, in Noank, Conn.

"For Noank it is not a day of mourning, neither it is one of celebration. Rather, the spirit is dedication. Flags fly from every house. The people gather in front of a granite bell tower in the center of town that says 'Noank Remembers' and they all go together to the burying grounds."

For a town that does right by the traditionally riotous Fourth of July you couldn't do better than visit Faith, N.C. Thirty thousand people do it seems and the 493 citizens spend a whole year planning the parade, the potato races, etc. Plenty of flags, plenty of happy spirits, no liquor.

WHAT IS A FLAG?

"A flag is 114 pieces of fabric stitched together," Hyatt found from a woman at a sewing machine in a New Jersey flag factory . . . but it's infinitely more. Everyone in that factory sees it as a symbol, is proud that not an imperfect flag has ever left the factory. "That reminds me, hearing Walter recite the old poem, 'Hats Off the Flag Is Passing By,' brings back a lot of memories of school days and childhood.

"I couldn't help but think of it when I watched a scraggly little Veteran's Day parade in New York. No old-fashioned stand - up - straight, hands-across - the - heart. Worse, very few hats off!

"NOT PREACHING"

"But," Hyatt added quickly, "we're not preaching. Just asking. One good question is 'how much that seems to be apathy or over - sophistication was caused by the wrong kind of flag-waving?'"

"How much damage did misuse by nuts, 'super-patriots,' and Ku - Klux - Klanners with their liberty - for - some - and justice - for - a - few do? They were all great flag-wavers. So were the Communists.

"How much, too, did making a celebration of everything in-have to do with the deterioration of real holidays?"

SMALL AUDIENCE

In the nation's capital on George Washington's Birthday Hyatt says half a dozen senators and a small straggle of visitors were total audience for a ceremony that consisted of "The Farewell Address."

"But downtown the bargain sales were going on." About the only reference to the Father of the Country was a sign, "We're Chopping Down Prices." Worse, some stores dropped the "Washington Day" entirely calling it "Crazy Day." But the American dream still comes through: "On the faces of new citizens taking the oath of naturalization; in some schools." Hyatt is particularly touched by the eight-year-old boy who wrote: "My country is an orchard of freedom, ready to be picked."

MAN ON THE MOVE

NBC Newsman Merrill Mueller's assignments have taken him to all 50 states in a two-year period. One of the most rush assignments was to Alaska in the spring. He left his Connecticut home for the 50th state within minutes after the earthquake announcement was made.

HIS OWN MONEY

"Dick Van Dyke would give himself away nine times a day if I let him," says the Emmy winner's manager, Byron Paul. Paul is quick to point out that creativity and common sense are not mutually exclusive. "It's just that Van Dyke cares a lot more about a lot of things than he does about a dollar sign."

The pair used to do a nightclub act until Byron Paul realized there had to be one businessman in the duo, took over contract negotiations, finally taking over full management as Van Dyke's career burgeoned.

VARIED CAREER

"Jeopardy" host Art Fleming has "barked for circuses, was the stunt man for Ralph Belamy in his early TV series, was a disk-spinner in North Carolina and finally an actor." Art played opposite both Loretta Young and Ann Sothern on their series.

"Empire" star Richard Egan has nicknamed his three-year-old daughter, Patricia-Ann "Boom-Boom" because she has such deep voice for such a cute little tyke.

KEY NOTE

"The smaller the city, the bigger the key" says "Get the Message" emcee Dick Clark who's received nearly a hundred to date. The key from the Cleveland suburb, Shaker Heights, is two feet long, the key from (or to) Detroit is two inches overall.

VIET NAM REDS SAY RUSSIANS HINDER CAUSE

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam accused Soviet Premier Khrushchev today of sacrificing world revolution to the needs of Moscow policy and of trying to bludgeon Red-ruled nations into doing his bidding.

An article in Hoc Tap, theoretical journal of the North Vietnamese Communist party, also blasted Khrushchev's attempt to marshal all Communist nations' economies under Soviet leadership in what he calls "Socialist division of labor."

The article was written by Deputy Premier Pham Hung and distributed by Peking's New China News Agency in summary form.

The article implied that Khrushchev was interested primarily in the needs of the Soviet Union, and building up Soviet forces while withholding military help from other Communist nations.

The article criticized the idea that world revolution can be achieved short of armed struggle.

Speaking of Khrushchev's "international division of labor" program, the article accused him of opposing the aspirations of other Red nations, such as Romania, for "self-reliance and building an independent economy for themselves."

Khrushchev—using the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance—Comecon — has attempted to assign Romania the task of concentrating on agriculture and its oil industry. Romania has resisted this, seeking greater industrialization.

Pham said if "national egoism"—a reference to the Soviet Union—"dominates to the detriment of the economically less-developed or smaller countries, harm can be done to the entire Socialist camp."

SCHOOL CHUMS KEEP REUNION

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In Florida on June 4, 1949, at exactly noon, Peter Sholley and Miles McDonnell vowed to meet again—in 15 years, to the very hour—on the northeast corner of Hollywood and Vine.

Thursday at the appointed hour, Sholley reached the corner. He'd flown from Boston, where he is vice president of Keystone Custodian Funds, for the reunion with his old college classmate and fraternity brother.

Sholley searched the crowd—then rushed over and threw an emotional bearhug about the slender, ill-clad figure of a woolly-bearded news vendor.

It was McDonnell. Sholley recognized him in a flash, even though McDonnell, an attorney from Winter Park, Fla., had disguised himself in an attempt to fool his friend.

The pair made their vow while students at Rollins College in Winter Park. The penalty for not showing up: Half of the forgetful one's 1963 income.

According to ABC documentary ("1964") the nation spends 32 billion dollars a year on education but that is "far less than we spend on gambling." Concludes the report: "It would cost at least 20 billion more to give all American school children optimum educational facilities and opportunities."

JOAN HACKETT TO WEEP AGAIN ON HOPE SHOW

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When a woman's role that demands a flood of tears turns up in a television dramatic series, one of the first names that pops into a director's mind is Joan Hackett.

Joan, in spite of her ability to produce big, beautiful sad tears on cue, is a happy, ambitious and carefree young woman.

Joan will be weeping again tonight, in the NBC Bob Hope Theater program, "Echo of Evil," but although slightly bored with her specialty, she enjoyed the part.

MUST KEEP LIMBER

"I play a drug addict who becomes what I suppose you call a lady of the evening," she said. "It isn't a very big part, but it's pretty good, aside from the tears. And after all the nuns I've played, the character—not nice—is in an area in which I need to stretch myself. It is very important for an actress to keep all her skills limber." Her profitable and convincing weeping really started after the sudden end of what started out as a glorious television romance. Originally shewas cast as the fiancée of the younger lawyer in CBS' "Defenders." But after a couple of episodes had been shot of the then-new series, it was decided that a permanent romance would restrict the activities of character Kenneth Preston, so she disappeared with a stroke of the writer's pen.

Two Teachers Die In Sport Car Crash

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Two young men, one a social studies teacher at Camdens Woodrow Wilson High School, were killed early today when their small foreign sports car ran out of control, jumped a curb and smashed into a tree.

Killed were Robert McKemey, 24, the teacher who was driving, and Edward A. Maguire, Jr., 25, both of Camden.

Police said the two were returning from Philadelphia where they attended Thursday night's Philadelphia-Los Angeles baseball game.

McKemey was graduated from West Chester (Pa.) State College in January. He was a pole vaulter on the track team.

WALLACE WILL CAMPAIGN IN 8 MORE STATES

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A television station has quoted an aide to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as saying the governor will campaign for the presidency in at least eight Southern states.

Station WJZ said Thursday night that Bill Jones, Wallace's press aide, told a reporter the governor will run in Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Texas and Alabama.

Jones also said Wallace may campaign in North Carolina and Maryland in addition to the eight other states, the Baltimore station said.

"Wallace says he does not expect to win the election, but wants a block of electors to bargain with both Republican and Democratic presidential nominees," WJZ said.

Wallace received 42.7 per cent of the Democratic vote in Maryland, 33.7 in Wisconsin and 29.8 in Indiana.

He said in those campaigns he was not seeking the presidency, but hoped to evoke pub-

Missile Crisis Was Gettysburg Of War

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP) — Walt W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, said Friday the 1962 Cuban missile crisis may some day be looked upon as "the Gettysburg of that global civil conflict" known as the Cold War.

Speaking at graduation exercises for 99 seniors at Haverford College, Rostow said the launching of the first Sputnik started a Communist Cold War offensive "which was brought to a standstill, in certain critical dimensions, in the 18 months' effort climaxed by the Cuban missile crisis of October, 1962."

If the United States does its job, and if the free world remains united, Rostow said, "the events, decisions, and initiatives launched in recent years could mark the beginning of the end of the cold war."
